Snowball Fight!

Materials: Snowball Fight! game boards*, game board markers

Teacher Supplied Materials: Mini marshmallows for each student

Teacher Prep: Print out game boards one for each student. Print out game board markers one for each student. Gather enough mini marshmallows for each student to cover their game board.

Directions:

1. Students cut out and assemble their game board marker.
2. Using a folder or large book to hide behind, students each place their game board marker in one space on their game board. This will be the space their opponent is trying to guess during the game.
3. Students will throw snowballs (marshmallows) at one another by calling out different locations on their game board to try and guess where their opponent is located. If their marker is not at the spot their opponent calls out, they will say "Miss!" and the opponent will place a marshmallow on that spot to show they have thrown a snowball there. When their opponent correctly guesses their location, the student says "Hit!" and the opponent wins. Remind students they can call out the location where their marker is located as a guess for their opponent, but since it's already covered with a marker, they will not be able to place a snowball their to record their throw.

*Traditional grid boards provided for older students but younger students can play, too! Just use the alphabet or numbers boards instead! To increase the difficulty for younger students, have them call out the letters sounds when using the alphabet board.
